

Personal, Social, Health and Economic Education (PSHE)

At Settlebeck school, we recognise that the holistic development of our students goes beyond academic achievement. We are committed to providing a comprehensive and enriching education that prepares our learners not only for academic success but also equips them with the knowledge, skills, and attitudes necessary to thrive in an ever-changing world. Our intent for the Personal, Social, Health, and Economic Education (PSHE) curriculum is rooted in this commitment.

The overarching aim of our PSHE curriculum is to empower students to lead fulfilling and responsible lives as informed and confident individuals.

Our PSHE curriculum is designed around three core themes:

- health and well-being
- relationships
- living in the wider world

Through a carefully designed and age-appropriate program, we aspire to achieve the following:

- promoting well-being
- building resilience
- developing positive relationships
- sexual health education
- develop economic and financial literacy
- citizenship education
- promote British Values
- promote cultural diversity

We actively seek partnerships with external organisations, experts, and community resources to enhance the PSHE curriculum. These collaborations provide students with authentic experiences and insights, enriching their learning beyond the classroom.

In Summary, our PSHE curriculum at Settlebeck School is designed with the utmost care and consideration for the holistic development of our students. We are dedicated to preparing them not only for academic success but also to become well-rounded, resilient, and responsible individuals ready to navigate the complexities of the modern world.
